Receive more than a degree:

Career readiness is not just classroom theory.

Consider this:

- Accelerated curricula means strong students like you may earn a Bachelor's degree in only 3 years, a Bachelor's plus MBA in only 5 years and a Doctorate in only 6, saving time and tuition dollars.
- Partnerships with select universities and programs such as the Global Assessment Program or Kookmin University guarantee you may transfer credits and have the opportunity to enter Husson as a second or third year student.
- Husson University is ranked in the top ten by U.S. News & World Report for student participation in internships. [2013-2014]
- Conditional admission is possible by enrolling in Bridge English at Husson University; no TOEFL or IELTS necessary.
- The Office of Academic Success and Intercultural Services (OASIS) provides support for you in all areas of academics with individual help in the Writing Center and Learning Center – for free.
- A week long orientation program, Eagle Week, gives you all the tools you will need to have a smooth transition to university life. Eagle Week also connects you with your own Peer Mentor who will become your best source of information and support throughout the first year.
- Every student receives a Faculty Advisor to offer guidance regarding degree choice and course selection and a Student Success Advisor who can help you navigate through the challenges of understanding a new culture.
- A robust Career Services Office provides free instruction in all career areas, from writing a resume to dressing for an interview.
- A Visa and Immigration Services specialist is on duty to help you make the complicated federal regulations easy to understand and follow.
- Small class sizes average fewer than 18 students; student to faculty ratio of 16:1. This means more focus on you and your goals.

English not quite strong enough? Seek Conditional Admission.

Partnerships for Student Success

Through a partnership with BridgeEnglish, Husson University offers an intensive English language curriculum on our campus designed to prepare students for university and career success. Twenty-four hours of classroom instruction per week quickly readies students for degree work. After a semester or two of English immersion you will be settled into the Husson Community and ready to start your degree work with confidence and skill.
